

What To Do When Your Document Type is Not Listed

When filing documents through the Los Angeles civil court eFiling portal, you will eventually run into a situation where the document you are filing is not on the court's list of "Document Types".

First Legal recommends you select the "Notice (name extension)" document type, then list the actual document type in the name extension box. Although you could hypothetically choose another document type, we have found this one is generally accepted by the court clerks reviewing your documents.

Claim of Right to Possession and Notice of Hearing
Notice and Acknowledgment of Receipt
Notice (name extension)
Notice of Add-on to JCCP Petition
Notice of Appearance

Once you have selected this document type, you should make a comment to the clerk explaining that your intended document type wasn't on the list.

If you have any questions about eFiling, please contact our eFiling department here, give us a call at 877.399.5562, or use the chat feature within our portal.